

The Prolonged Life-Span of Alveolar Macrophages

Jaime Murphy, Ross Summer, Andrew A. Wilson, Darrell N. Kotton, and Alan Fine

The Pulmonary Center, Boston University School of Medicine, Boston, Massachusetts

Online Data Supplement

Supplementary Figure E1: Histology, cytology and mac-3 staining 3 months post transplant. (a) low power (10x) view of hematoxylin and eosin stained lungs from a wild-type control, shielded and unshielded animals (3 months post transplant). (b) High power view (40x) of Wright-Giemsa (top panel) and mac-3 (bottom panel) staining of BAL specimens from a wild-type control, shielded and unshielded animals (3 months post transplant).

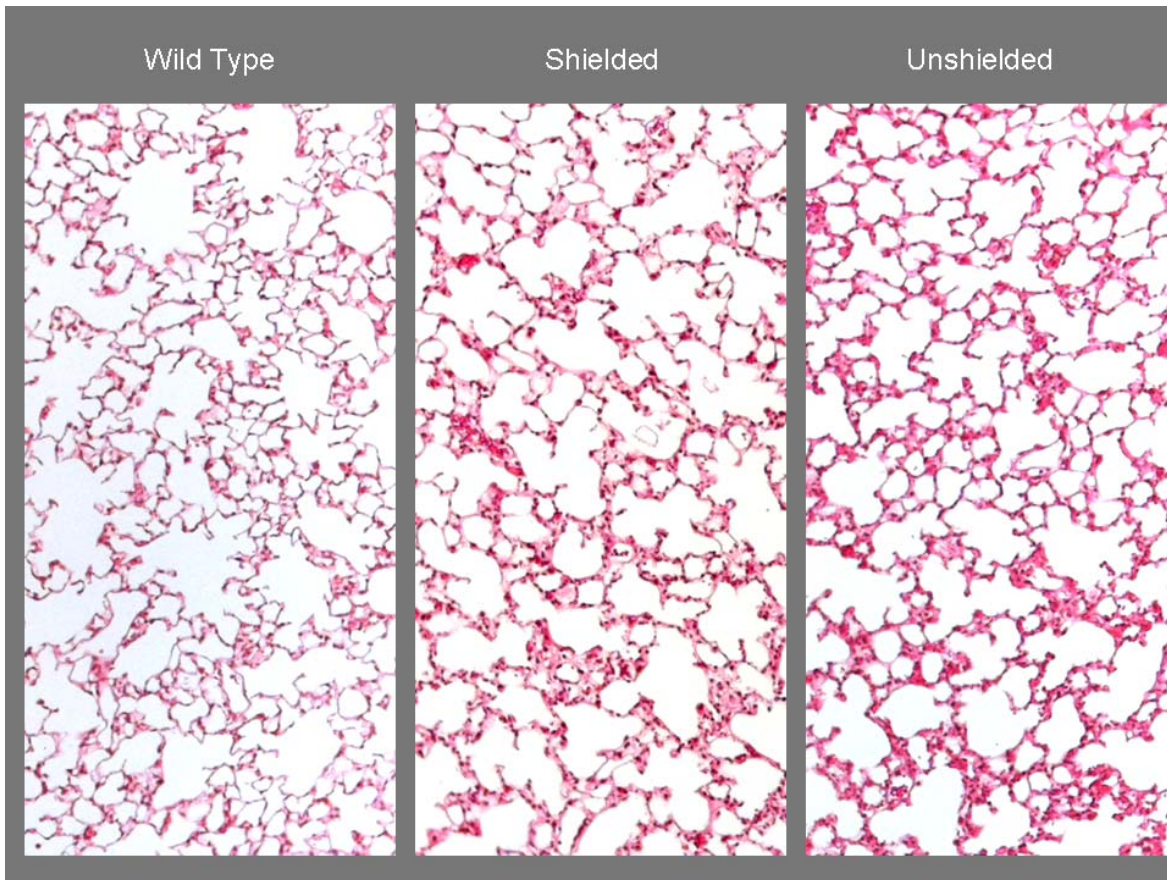

Figure E1a

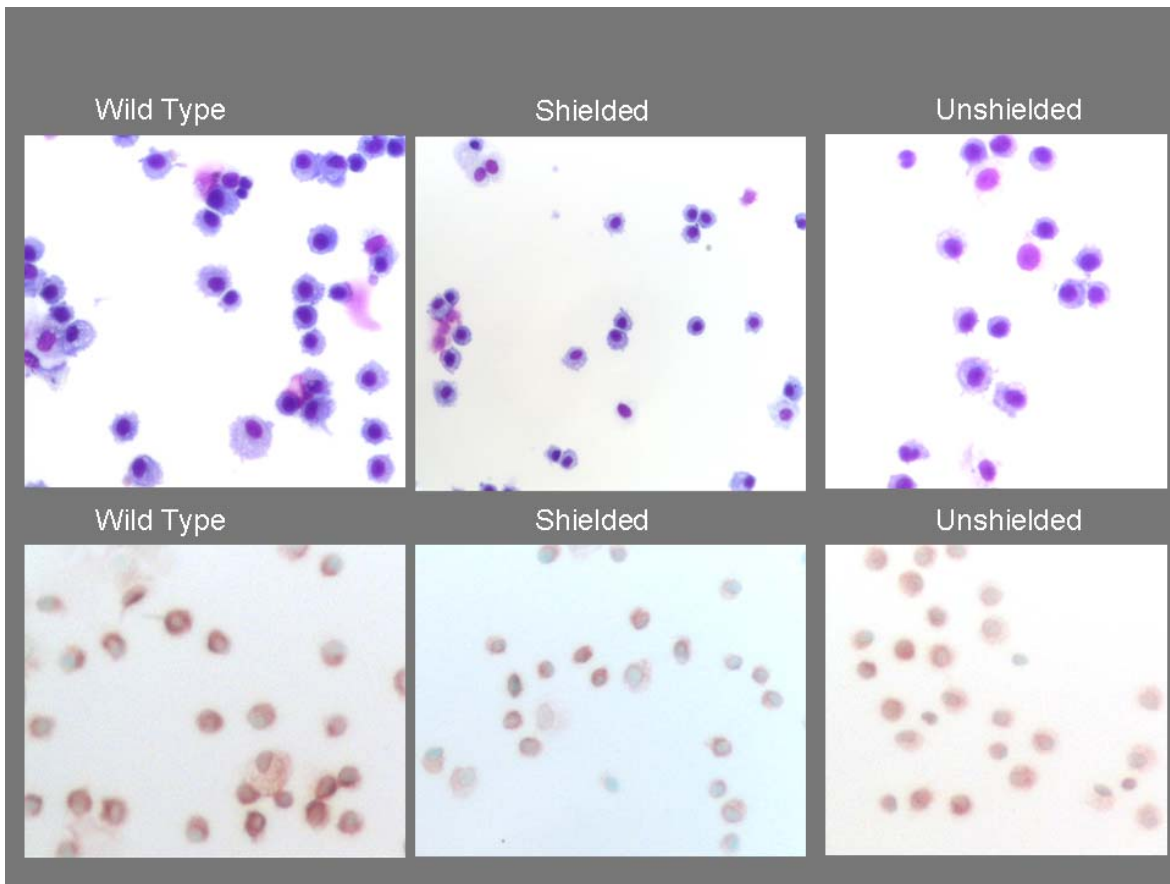

Figure E1b